

Las Aguilas de Diablo

MT. DIABLO SILVERADO EAGLE CIRCLE

Las Aguilas de Diablo, an organization of older Eagle scouts, annually recognizes new Eagles, Quartermasters and Silver Award recipients at an annual dinner held in late April or early May in central Contra Costa County. In 2017 the guest speaker at the dinner was Joe Starkey, voice of the University of California Golden Bears and former broadcaster for the San Francisco 49ers. In 2018, Daniel Clark, a technical director at Pixar in Emeryville, did a very entertaining presentation featuring the movies "Coco" and the new Pixar production, "Incredibles 2."

The dinner and presentation are free to all new Eagles, Quartermasters and Silver Award recipients. Efforts are made to match sponsors with scouts in the area of each scout's interest. Those who do not attend are missing a unique opportunity and a wonderful time.

In addition to hosting the annual dinner, Las Aguilas de Diablo awards scholarships to new Eagles, Quartermasters and Silver Award recipients who apply and are found worthy and in financial need. Most scholarships are for $1000. However, one scholarship for any Scout planning to go into engineering is for $5000.

The 2019 Las Aguilas de Diablo Recognition dinner will be on Thursday, April 18, 2019, starting at 6 p.m. at the Blackhawk Auto Museum at 3700 Blackhawk Plaza Circle in Danville. Our guest speaker will be Colin Braudrick, Manager of Global Workplace Security for The Walt Disney Company. Mr. Braudrick is planning an entertaining and informative presentation that will include Disney videos as well as information on workplace security issues and work opportunities. His son, Owen, is an Eagle in his first year at UCLA.

In order to register for the dinner, which will include an opportunity to visit the Blackhawk Auto Museum, and to apply for a scholarship, please visit the Las Aguilas de Diablo website at www.lasaguilasdediablo.org.
